PROGRAM

LINDAT-Clarin project kickoff meeting and workshop

Monday, March 21, 2011
13:00 – 16:30

Venue: Faculty of Mathematics and Physics, Charles University in Prague, Malostranské nám. 25, 11800 Prague 1
1st floor (aula/refectory)

The recently introduced program of large research infrastructures in the Czech Republic resulted in the first 18 projects, one of which is LINDAT-Clarin. This project aims at building a language resources infrastructure for language research that needs large text, speech and related resources for theoretical studies as well as applications. The project is connected to the European research area and will provide its data repository and services in a compatible manner with European initiatives to which it is linked.

At the workshop, we will formally launch the project and present its goals and some results that the collaborating institutions achieved in this area in the past.

Program of the workshop

13.00 – 14.30	Welcome and an introductory word of the representative of Charles University in Prague
	Steven Krauwer, Utrecht, Netherlands, Clarin project coordinator: The Clarin project: the future
	Jan Hajič, Prague, Czech Republic, LINDAT-Clarin coordinator: LINDAT-Clarin: its background, project goals, methodology and national and international cooperation
Coffee break
15:00 – 16.30	Joakim Nivre, Uppsala, Sweden: Perspectives on the Prague Dependency Treebank
	Pavel Ircing, Pilsen, Czech Republic: The importance of data in speech research
	Martin Smok: Oral history research: one database, two views
	Closing